Not illustrated. 1907 Excerpt: .Language the subject after recess in the morning, Geography and History for the first period in the afternoon, and Reading and Literature for the last period. But in each period the subject mentioned served only as the basis for the work of educating the children. I may illustrate this work by reporting what a sixth grade class was doing. The teacher was a lover of the beautiful and had special power as a teacher of drawing and color work. The subject for the geography and history work of the first afternoon period was Japan and China. The teacher had interested the children in Japanese love of blossoms and of delicate shades of color. The drawing and art work of the class had been on Japanese designs for several weeks. On the basis of this acquired appreciation of Japanese taste, the life of the people in their homes and industries, their religious customs and political history had been studied; the processes of silk manufacture had been followed with the help of a complete cabinet of illustrative material from silk worm to finished products; and designs for patterns in silk were made. For the English work of the second period the children were writing each his own story of Japan and China. These stories were illustrated with drawings and color plates made to show the surroundings of the people and included house interiors, festival scenes, drawings of the sacred mountain, and other elements of the culture of these...
