James Harlan, of Iowa: In the Senate of the United States, February 14 and 15, 1872 At the close of the war of the rebellion this Department found itself in possession of large quantities of cannon, small arms, and other ordnance stores no longer required, and which it was to the interest of the United States to dispose of, because either of their perishable character, the constant expense of their care and preservation, or their obsolete patterns. Here is the origin of these sales: At first sales were made by auction, but subsequently (July 20, 1868) Congress passed a law giving the Secretary of War authority to cause to be sold, at public or private sale, after due public notice, the old cannon, arms, and other ordnance stores which are damaged or otherwise unsuitable for the United States military service, or for the militia of the United States, and to cause the net proceeds of such sales, after paying all proper expenses of sale and transportation to the place of sale, to...
