RareBooksClub. Paperback. Book Condition: New. This item is printed on demand. Paperback. 278 pages. Original publisher: Washington, DC : The Office, 2001 OCLC Number: (OCoLC)49342637 Subject: Youth -- Employment -- United States. Excerpt: . . . Output initially decreased in the first year, but then increased in the remaining three years of the observation period. In the first year of the observation period, output produced by Job Corps participants was about 1, 700 per participant less than that produced by their control group counterparts, reflecting the participants forgone employment opportunities while in Job Corps (Figure 1). However, in the remaining three years of the observation period combined, output was about 2, 500 per participant higher than in the absence of Job Corps. Output produced after the observation period was estimated to be 26, 800 per participant. The dollar value of the annual impact on compensation in the last year of the observation period (1, 550) was assumed to persist for the rest of the average participants working lifetime. The rationale for this assumption was: 1. The impacts of Job Corps did not decline during the observation period. We found that impacts increased during the third year...
