Composed Life Press, United States, 2014. Paperback. Book Condition: New. 201 x 132 mm. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand .This award-winning (eLit Awards, Self Help Category) book, Slowing Down in a Speedstressed World fulfills two clear purposes: first, to gently convince harried readers that easing one's pace of life is not only necessary to health and happiness, it is also entirely possible. Throughout, Slowing Down in a Speedstressed World lives up to the word kindly in its subtitle. The author repeatedly reminds her audience to be forgiving with themselves as they undertake the imperfect process of changing a habitually fast pace. Select chapters address the unique needs and challenges of workers and parents, as well as of retirees, who often over-commit. Page by page, as slowly as readers need, they will learn to relate in new ways to their greatest barrier to change: the anxiety that inevitably arises as anyone attempts to slow down. Readers will find allies through the words of those who shared their experiences with the author. While slowing down can feel like a lonely enterprise in our pressurized world, those who read Slowing Down in...
